More Money Needed To Extend Suppression Plan Past Sept. 1st

The Suppression Association of Mountain View and Kneehill still have to raise more money to meet contract obligations with W.R.D.C. Modification Co. Ltd. It is the wish of those who it concerns most more money must be raised immediately to ensure that protection carries on past September 1. To meet commitments this free canvass should have assurance of the necessary funds by Aug. 20. Money like this is always hard to give but there is good reason to believe a profit has already been earned on an investment that would pay the cost of full suppression for the rest of a lifetime.

The storm on Tuesday, July 31 at Carstairs and Crossfield was reported as the biggest and most destructive storm ever to strike the area and at that time was 20 miles wide. It passed over the entire hall suppression area from southwest to northeast, leaving wide-spread reports of slash soft hail and a few scattered hail stones, doing some damage to gardens and light crop damage in widely scattered areas. While some may contend that this would have occurred naturally, it rather strains ones reason to attribute this to nature when one notes how closely the destructive part of the storm skirts the boundary of the hall suppression area.

It should be noted that this was the fifth storm to leave this pattern since the company began operations and this is the exact pattern of happenings in the California and Oregon areas protected by them during the past three years.

The company meteorologist, Stan Sifferman, stationed here, reports they are doing better than expected considering the magnitude of the storms experienced and sincerely hopes they will be able to continue the present pattern of success. Time alone will tell.

Meanwhile it is hoped people will realize that those in charge of the plan are the most advanced group of scientists in this field and will give the project their full support.

We cannot afford to operate without their services as long as they can maintain the present picture. The company cannot develop and improve this science still further without your support and co-operation.

The directors of the association wish to express their sincere thanks for the support of the canvassers and the public that made the project a success so far.

If you have been missed in the canvass for any reason, mail your cheque to one of the canvassers or Tom Morris, Didsbury or Walter Norrie, Olds, making it payable to Mountain View Hall Suppression Assoc. Ltd.

A public meeting will be held at Lorne Pine hall on Monday, Aug. 20, 8:30 p.m. when members of the Mountain View and Kneehill associations will be present, as well as company officials. Anyone interested is urged to attend.

To date hall suppressors have spent 757 hours of operation under their respective belts and so far no serious, large scale damage has occurred in the target area. The hail killers went into operation on July 30 and it depends only on finances if the plan will continue past Sept. 1.

Lucky! Lucky! All Agreed?

On Saturday of last week Mrs. George Innes, who lives in the Springdale district, came wheeling into the Pioneer office with a large, pleased grin on her face. She said "try and match this!" She was carrying a six-leaf clover in a small jar, which she had discovered the previous Thursday at her farm home. That same afternoon she went to a social group meeting, won the contest on "animal, vegetable or mineral", won the hostess prize and then kept her winning ways in high gear by having a president elected for the group, a post that apparently has been vacant too long. Her comments: "Yep, yes aise, that sure was my lucky day!" How could anyone disagree with that?

Nobody Won In This Round

Ivan Weber, Imperial Oil agent here, was a very unhappy man one day last week when he discovered, on opening his place of business, that a break-in artist, or artists, had used the dark hours to make off with the office safe.

He's breathing easier now as Const. Dobbin found the safe later in the day, abandoned in a deep ditch near the hospital.

R.C.M.P., assisted by finger-print experts, are still investigating the case and one suspect is still under suspicion.

Even to a layman it looked like the work of an amateur when you consider the fact there was a sign on the front of the safe stating it was open and there was no cash on the inside.

So it was carried away. Records of great value to the agent, and he only were found intact and, as was said, Ivan is breathing easier again.

Master Bruce Edwards of Calgary has been spending a holiday with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kinchuck.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Kinkead (Gladys McDonald), on the birth of a daughter.

On Wednesday evening of last week the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Johnson of Vancouver figured prominently in the baptismal ceremony performed by Rev. E. B. Fox. The sponsors for the event were the child's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Johnson of Olds and his uncle, Mr. Les Goettien of Calgary. The names Richard Allan were bestowed on the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goettien accompanied their daughter and husband, the Lyle Johnsons as far back as Red Deer last weekend and enjoyed a chicken dinner with the Card family and met a new grandson, born July 27.

Renovations are going on at the Westcott store and we hear Mr. and Mrs. Witlaw of Garfield will be moving in soon to handle the business. Miss Dorothy McDonald has helped there all summer but will leave shortly to attend university.

Crops are ripening fast and with every day we're closer to getting this much-needed crop.

The Reader Goes To Bat, Or To Pot (Hole) . . .

Editor, Didsbury Pioneer.

Dear Sir:

For the sake of variety, let us ever off the well-beaten "Rambler and Roamin'" course regarding the proposed connecting asphalt approach road, for just a minute. We could do with same, but have you driven anywhere within the limits of our town of Didsbury?

Strike one — Right spring broken. Strike two — Left spring broken. Strike three — Driver, in desperation, shifts his eyes, steps on the gas, and hopes for the best.

The Lions Club provided locals and visitors a treat, with its splendid entertainment on August 1, the annual sports day. One would expect others in command to do their share in making patrons comfortable to the best of their ability. What did we find?

Hole one — Right spring broken. Hole two — Left spring broken. Hole three — Out of Didsbury to stay, if possible. But remember, it's not Didsbury, it's the streets that's in it.

Did not the taxpayers pay for a machine for the maintenance of streets? Isn't there a qualified expert to run same, or does it need more rest and more coats of sun tan in the solarium over by the creamery? Could it be some of our councillors are interested in promoting the sale of new car springs, or better still, cars?

Are we stuck? Seems like we are. Just a ramblin' and roamin' and wonderin'!

They Tell Me . . . a few years back interested residents of an area close to town asked the municipal council to install a guard rail on a dangerous section of road, which includes a nasty incline. To date the hazard still remains. There are many who have had difficulty on this stretch in times past, recently one man lost his life. How much does a guard rail cost?

They Tell Me . . . it was an 8 to 1 verdict in favor of the hospital addition. We're pleased, seems like a very large majority of those who voted are pleased, and for those who cast ballots in opposition to the plan we can only say: "Watch it grow, we hope you are around to grow with it, inside or out!"

They Tell Me . . . 17 long years have passed since Didsbury was cut from the main artery that feeds traffic to and fro between Calgary and Edmonton. Right now it seems to take 17 years to get from the main stem into town. Heard about a lad who made it in fair time, he left his car here and headed south on the "Dayliner."

They Tell Me . . . that top flight marathon swimmer, Marilyn Bell, whose former conquests in the aquatic sport include mastery of Lake Ontario and the English Channel, was pulled from the water five miles short of her goal when she attempted to make an 18 1/2 mile swim across the Straits of Juan de Fuca. She received $20,000 for her fine effort. We think we should receive an amount in proportion, from the Town of Didsbury, for challenging the small canal which surrounds our driveway every time it rains. Others on our block are in line for the same prize, should it be offered.

They Tell Me . . . plans for the rest room and playground projects have come to a complete standstill. After all, when you gotta go, you gotta go. Let's go!

Canada Thistle: This is a noxious weed, for it chokes off other cereal growth. Moreover, it propagates rapidly in two ways — by means of seed dispersal and underground root stocks. Canada thistle eradication is only practical during the summer-allow year.

However, very satisfactory control of thistles is possible with 2,4-D in the crop year. Eradication is usually accomplished through successive applications of the chemical along with cultural operations. Best stand reduction is produced by using 2,4-D ester at 1 to 1 1/2 pounds acid equivalent in the fallow year. One or more applications may be required. The first of these is most effective at the early flower or late bud stage.

Two or three weeks should elapse and then a thorough going over given the land with a plow or well set, sharp tiller.

It is quite important that preferably three weeks elapse between the application of chemical and the uprooting of the plants by a cultural stroke. Translocation of 2,4-D acid from the plant into the root is slow, hence the need for the time lapse between spraying and a subsequent cultural operation. For a thorough eradication program don't overlook fence lines, waste areas or pasture fields, where Canada thistles are growing.

SURPRISE !!!

An old man was engaged as a watchman in a famous film studio and given a pass-key to all rooms.

After he had been working on the job for a month or so, it was realized that he hadn't received any payment. So one of the staff sought the old man out and asked: "Sam, why haven't you called to collect your salary? You have been working here for some time and haven't had a penny."

Sam stared at the man in amazement. "What," he gulped. "I get paid, too?"

AGRICULTURE'S PUBLIC RELATIONS . . .

Public relation-wise, agriculture seems to be prostrate at the feet of misinformation according to Don Belding, nationally-known public relations executive of the United States.

The public, he says, has a fuzzy mind about farming, farmers and agriculture in general. Women buy food every week and are very aware of fluctuation in retail prices. When the price of food goes up the retailer, of course, doesn't blame himself; he is more apt to blame the farmer. So it is only natural for the public to think that farmers get too much for their produce. Most women, when they find out, are amazed to find the spread between the price they pay in the retail store and the price the farmer really gets.

The attitude of business toward agriculture, said Mr. Belding, is not very rosy either. Many businessmen visualize agricultural as a section of our economy which the government coddles with price supports and other handouts which do not solve the basic problem.

When the farmer looks into his farm, he encounters the perpetual fight with nature and when he looks out from his farm, he finds competition to beat his price and ego down — from processors, retailers, business elements and even from the public itself.

The only corrective attitude to such a situation is education; not haphazard but organized education, declares Mr. Belding. There is a great need to tell the story of the farmer.

In building a public relations program, Mr. Belding cautions that it is necessary that farm organizations first come out with a sound farm program that will stand the test of practicality and will carry the support of all agriculture. It must be good for the farmer and it must be good for the nation.

Once the farm program is set right, then the farmer's story should be favorably told, using newspaper, radio, TV, direct mail, as well as personal representation.

Mr. Belding's third recommendation is that special emphasis should be placed on youth, both urban and rural, who in the future will be making the speeches, writing the articles, arguing the bills in parliament and fighting the fight for agriculture.

RAFT

A helicopter may hover like a bird, but when it comes down to roost on a roof it weighs plenty, and sets up quite a strain.
So engineers have devised a gimmick. The whirly-bird lands on an aluminum raft floating in a shallow pool of water. The machine's weight is spread over the area of the raft instead of just that covered by the landing gear.

No doubt they figured out, too, how passengers can get "ashore." Certainly men who work with aluminum are mighty resourceful. In fact, they keep us busy supplying them with this versatile modern metal, at home and in foreign markets.

By The Way

Contributed by
REV. T. J. STANTON, M.A.

"You better go home little one," said a kindly person to a tot on the street. "Who said so," came the reply.

"You should drive more carefully son," advised the father. "Who said so?" was the son's reply. "There was an accident and the son was no more."
"You could easily become a very fine person," said a teacher to a girl in her class. "Who said so?" was the reply. Shame all too soon shadowed that girl's home.

A few years ago we were sure we were at the dawning of a new era.
Our women were to vote. There is no reason why women should note vote. However, our politics are just as corrupt, our laws are still ignored and broken. Our ideals have not been improved, and our corrective institutions have not been bettered to any noticeable degree, because the ladies of our land have exercised their franchise.

So when a new party throngs the House and takes over the reins of government everything is to be rosy. One fails to see how, in the long run, one party has ever done anything that has not been equalled by another party at some other time.
There are growing signs of an increase in unhappiness throughout society today, and that at a time when our people have more to do with than many other peoples have.
We often hear, or use, this phrase:

"The age of the common man." Every age is just that; but if this is to be a better age because of that, we must teach a new emphasis. We must teach respect not only for our rights, but also for the rights of others. We must teach that there is no wisdom, usefulness or superior worth in any one group or party that is not inherent in every other. We must teach that whatever advantages there are, that these are not peculiar to any group or society. They are the fruits of desire and training. We must teach reverence for the unseen; for that and that only is the price of survival. Progress is nothing more at any time than that which man attempts in his striving to realize the love of God.

We want the trained hand in our operating room. We want the trained musician. We desire a skilled mechanic to repair our car, radio, electric light or gas range.
Yet we appoint untrained men to Parliament, to manage large public concerns and to direct all sorts of institutions, the success or failure of which will either strengthen or strangle the life blood of the nation.

Lord Acton once said it was the failure of the Athenians, to correct this weakness, that brought their greatness to an end. He believed that democracy might follow the same way out, if it permitted, the actions and decisions of untrained committees and groups; rather than the will of God, to set the moral standards of living. Our best can only be realized and our future assured when all democratic control is tested and improved, according to a code and standard that was not made by man. Namely, The Divine Law.

In a comparatively late book by Cameron Howley, businessmen are called "common folk," whose effort to get dollars is not an indication of

A Free Press !!!

Expose of the operations of phony stockeeters by Calgary Herald reporter Dick Snell is an encouraging move to those who invest money in the stock market in the firm belief they are dealing with legitimate operators.

The legitimate operators were glad to see the expose and this in the future will possibly make stock market dealing more on the level. It appears most unusual that a newspaper reporter can flush out stocketers when the RCMP sits back awaiting facts and evidence.

These stockeeters have been milking the public for many years. Their operation is smooth and often right on the borderline of legality. Newspaper exposes of this nature help to protect a gullible public from being taken, because they aim at the smallest investor.

Articles like these are a fine reason why freedom of the press should be continued and not muzzled by licences as they are attempting to do at the present time in Britain.

Alberta Farmers
Co-operate In
Hail Research

This summer a co-operative investigation into the physics of clouds, with particular attention to those producing hail, is being launched under the joint auspices of the Meteorological Division, Dept. of Transport and Research Council of Alberta.

Four areas of the province have been selected for special study:
Municipal Districts of Mountain View, Kneehill, Lacombe and Ponoka.

During the last few weeks hundreds of questionnaire cards have been distributed to farmers in these municipal districts and farmers have been requested to use these cards in reporting hail storms. Many cards have already been returned to the weather scientists in Edmonton, providing valuable information on recent storms in these particular areas.

So that an effective scientific study of the serious hail problem which exists in Western Canada can be made, Albertans are asked to report their observations of all storms accompanied by hail, whether damaging or not. The information required is:
the exact time of beginning and ending of the hail and approximate size of the largest hailstones (pea, grape, walnut, golf ball, etc.). In addition, any remarks, concerning accompanying lightning and high winds will be welcome. The research group will appreciate any eyewitness accounts of tornadoes or of funnel clouds.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The fact that mankind can turn to the divine mind, God, for intelligence and ability will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Key-note of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" is the Golden Text from Palms (147:5): "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite."

The practical value of understanding God as divine mind will be emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (258:21): "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity sains the true conception of man and God."

Included in the Bible readings will be the following advice of Paul to the Philippians (2:5): "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."

greed, but "a way of keeping the score." Of one character he writes:
"He lives as if his soul would be measured on a balance sheet, where there is no credit for love."

Arnold Toynbee, a well known historian today, says: "The loss of freedom is the price we pay for violence and injustice. In the western world religion was pushed aside and made way for technology during the later part of the 19th century.
The growing conviction now is that man must return to religion or perish. The Napoleons and the Henry Fords will be forgotten and the St.
Francises and the Wesleys will be remembered."

"The wages of sin is death." Who said so? Human history, man's recorded experience, the revealer of life and the Judge Eternal, before whom all generations rise and fall, all agree in this. And in this also "Life is God's gift," all people, regardless of the form of government they live under.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

President Taylor and family have gone to a youth camp in central Washington for a 10-day camp, where Mr. Taylor will be one of the speakers. Miss Grace Eby accompanied them and will be singing in a trio with the Seabrand sisters. Mr. Ormand Sherrick also accompanied them and will help direct the camp program. The latter is travelling with Mr. Taylor in all deputations work this summer. They will return some time next week. While away they will attend the wedding of Miss Esther Seabrand, who graduated from this college last spring.

Mr. Ed Eby, of Pasadena, Calif., is visiting with his sister, Miss Gladys Eby, and brother, Sam Eby. He will visit points at Red Deer, Camrose, Edmonton and Sibbald, where another sister resides. Miss Eby will accompany him on these trips.

On Sunday evening Miss Gladys Eby entertained in honor of her brother Ed, when she and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby and Marilyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Eby and Mary Lou enjoyed a buffet luncheon.

The garden produce is certainly coming on in the school gardens. Mrs. Edna Eby, who will be cooking here next winter, has been putting away from beans and peas, spinach and Swiss chard, in the deep freeze. We did wonder if some persons here have an over-abundance of peas and beans and would like to bring the surplus in to the school. We would appreciate this.

Mrs. Lydia Suder left Monday morning for the west coast with Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Hallman. She will visit with her daughter, Lois, who works in Victoria, and also with other relatives.

Registrations are coming in quite frequently now and we are expecting a splendid freshman class this fall. Some of the local young people who are expecting to come have not yet registered, but we are expecting them to do so at any time. The winter months here add much to a young person's life. We will be having a young man from Michigan to teach voice this winter and Rev. Bob Simpson will again have classes in evangelism and missions. More church people should avail themselves of his lectures. We shall be announcing later the times of these classes and, since he comes but once a week, many missionary-minded people should enroll in this class and hear this experienced and missionary teach this great subject. Think it over!

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fulmer

Vibriosis is a disease of cattle that has been recognized for many years. It is caused by a bacterium vibrio fetus and is characterized by abortion and sterility. Although regular diagnostic procedures were followed in the investigation of sterility and abortion problems, vibriosis was not diagnosed in Alberta until 1953. In 1955 it was positively diagnosed in seven herds.

Available evidence would seem to indicate that while the disease may have been present in Alberta for some time it is only in recent years that it has begun to spread and to develop into an economic problem. It is also probable that brucellosis has masked its presence in some herds and the progress with brucellosis control has brought the problem of vibriosis to light. As yet, the disease is not wide-spread since the examination of 211 aborted calves at the Alberta Veterinary Laboratory has disclosed vibriosis in only 14 of them.

At the present time vibriosis is regarded as being a true venereal disease, in that cows are infected by the semen of an infected bull. Bulls probably become infected from servicing of an infected cow. There is some evidence to suggest that cows may pick up the organism other than through breeding. There is little doubt, however, but that the infected bull is the important spreader of the disease.

Vibriosis is suspected if there is a history of early abortion and breeding difficulty. Blood testing is of value but unfortunately, many infected animals will give a negative result. The laboratory examination of aborted fetuses should be done whenever possible.

If the disease is suspected seek qualified advice.

Control measures are based upon the elimination of infected bulls and to the use of a clean bull on heifers and those cows that are known to be disease free. If dairy herds artificial insemination is to be recommended since the antibiotics added to the semen will destroy the vibrio organism if it is present. The treatment of cows with antibiotic uterine infusions will help to correct breeding difficulties.

Canadian income to farmers from sale of dairy products reached $438,000,000 in 1955.

FALLEN TIMBER

(From Our Own Correspondent)

July 31, just at supper time, a severe hail storm struck the district, leaving havoc in its wake. The hail stones were the size of large marbles and grew from there to the proportions of a tennis ball. Many windows were broken in the district (17 in the school alone), gardens pounded to a pulp and crops reduced to nothing. At the same time a cyclone struck west of here cutting a swath around both Morrison homes and on down the river. Hundreds of trees were uprooted and it is just a miracle that none of the buildings were touched.

The Vacation Bible School achievement night was held with a goodly number in attendance, despite the storm. The children went through their parts very well and a film topped off the evening.

A farewell party was held in the school for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morrison and family, who are moving to Olds. The guests of honor were presented with a purse of money. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Howton and family, Rev. C. and R. Moore and family were supper guests at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Moore at Sundre on Sunday. Later in the evening they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Graham and family, who had just arrived from Kincaid, Ont.

Queries Farmers On Hail Damage

A recent appeal for hail information made to farmers in several selected parts of the province, has already brought an extremely encouraging response, announces Dr. N. H. Grace, director of the Alberta Research Council. Four areas of the province have been selected for special study. They are the Municipal Districts of Kneehill, Mountain View, Lacombe and Ponoka. During the last few weeks, hundreds of questionnaire cards have been distributed to farmers throughout these municipal districts, and farmers have been requested to use these cards in reporting hail storms. Many cards have already been returned to the weather-scientists in Edmonton, providing valuable information on recent storms in these particular regions. Farmers in other areas of Alberta are being encouraged to voluntarily report on hail storms. All replies and correspondence should be addressed to Hail Studies, Research Council of Alberta, Edmonton.

The scientists want to know exactly where and when it falls, for how long, and the size of the largest stones. From the information received they will be able to trace the course of each individual storm across the country, to measure its dimensions and life span, and to learn something of its origin. The research group is interested in all hail whether slight or severe; every fall of hail, no matter how slight or how brief, is of interest.

The scientists emphasize that the important thing to be reported is the hail itself. An entire storm, consisting of rain, hail, lightning and high winds, may last for half-an-hour or more, but the hail itself probably lasts for only a few minutes. It is important, therefore, that the times reported be those of the beginning and ending of the hail alone, and not of the entire storm.
